OVER THE DEEP BLUE SEA

Good Gossip Generously Gathered from the Old World.

Detailed Doings in War and Peace—
A Roster of Royalty—The War Between France and China
—News Items.

—News Items.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Two great continental events overshadow, for the moment, all other questions in England. War between France and China, according to the latest intelligence, is declared, and everybody here dreads the serious international and trade complications sure to be involved. France's task is considered very difficult. If she fights by land she must send 40,000 men at a moment when Toulon, her great port of debarkation, is useless.

If she fights by sea she will have to attack great ports, and in this way will interfere with both German and English trade, and perhaps lead to the sacrifice of English and German lives by exaggerated Chinese mobs. M. Ferry's position, despite the splendid triumphs of his strategy in the Versailles Congress, is made difficult by the holy horror of all France, of war and the utter unscrupulousness of his opponents, who, when the vote of credit was under consideration, resorted to the worst form of filibustering, twice trying to wreck the session of the Chamber by breaking up the quorum.

The best point in the situation for France is the acquisition of Kelung. All her naval operations in Chinese waters have hitherto been terribly hampered by being compelled to resort to the English or the Chinese forces, as they had all the mines in their hand, but Kelung has the finest coal mines in Asia. They can easily be protected, and thus France has, according to the confession of even the English papers, doubled her naval capabilities in the whole region East of Suez, even as far South as Australia. The chances of the conflict are the subject of the usual amount of discordant calculations.

The Times correspondent at Foo Chow, declares that the Chinese are utterly unprepared for the conflict, the result of the terrible ignorance of their rulers.

THE VARZIN TALK.

The second great topic of discussion is the visit of Count Kalnoky, the Austrian Minister of foreign affairs, to Bismarck, at Varzin.

The coolness between England and Germany has become a no longer controversial fact. While the German Semi-Official Press is most studiously offensive, the London Journals continue, for the most part, elaborately conciliatory.

The reports as to the object of the interview are perfectly bewildering in their contradictions, but the general suspicion in England is that Bismarck wants to widen the breach between France and England by a pretense of hostility to the latter, and that he wants to terrorize England into a more favorable attitude toward his Colonial policy. The idea of diverting his countrymen from the Democratic institutions of America to despotic enterprises in the virgin lands of the savages in Africa and Australia, has apparently taken firm possession of his mind, and he wishes to make England use pressure on her Colonial subjects to break down their fierce opposition to any attempt to interfere with the British Monopoly over all of the unoccupied lands of the world.

All the maneuvers of the German Chancellor should probably be considered with movements toward Federation and extensive annexation by the Australian Colonies.

A MOMENTOUS QUESTION.

Probably the really great and momentous question which is being fought out now is not England's transitory troubles in Egypt, but whether the vast regions of Oceania shall be possessed solely by Anglo-Saxons, or in participation with German settlers.

FEELING GOOD.

The public of France and England are united in the delight at the close of their Parliamentary proceedings.

A SMALL AUDIENCE.

The English prerogative was so scantily attended that there was not a quorum when the Commons were summoned to hear the Queen's speech in the House of Lords.

SOME FUNNY BUSINESS.

The Parisian newspapers are still full of the marvelous novelties of Billingsgate, which the Versailles Congress elicited. A Deputy perhaps reached supremacy in the ignoble contest by declaring that when his opponent died his body would be found to contain the microbe of every species of hypocrisy, shame and treachery.

A Paris paper finds a sufficient reason for the general violence in the fact that the deputies consumed two thousand quarts of beer, over one hundred gallons of brandy, two thousand quarts of miscellaneous refreshments, and two thousand five hundred pounds of ice. The miscellaneous refreshments, with the large quantity of ice, proved the rabidly and spreading popularity of "Bosons Americans," as it was recorded that a favorite drink was what, with some violation of orthography, was called a "Sherry Cobbler."

The lull in English politics is brought into full relief by the statement that Mr. Gladstone is sermonizing at a flower show in Hawarden, on the cultivation of window gardening.

That Mr. Chamberlain is at his palatial residence near Birmingham, and that Lord Salisbury is in the bosom of his family at his chateau in Dieppe, while Lord Randolph Churchill is tied to his mother's apron strings in Scotland.

SOCIAL.

The chief social topic to those left behind in London is the health of the grouse and the weight of the bags shot down by the complaining sportsmen. The season is pronounced good.

COWS FASHIONABLE.

The fashionable seaside resort for a couple of weeks at this time of the year, is Cowes.

"THE FUN, YE KNOW."

The Queen did her best to make the great regatta of last week a failure, but it was triumphantly successful, and both her undutiful eldest son, and his son participated in the fun and frolic.

Prince George is described as exteriorly very quiet, and internally full of mischief and jollity. The society papers find a topic for numberless paragraphs in the elevation of the youngster to the neighborhood of the Garber, before he has even become of age.

AMERICAN BEAUTY.

Numberless American millionaires and beauties went down to Cowes in the train of Lady Mandeville, and the most admired of the latter were, according to fashion chroniclers, Miss Grant, Miss Lawrence, and Miss Winslow. There were rumors of several proposals but not from the most eligible young men.

A LITTLE TWADDLE.

The breakdown of the most cherished idea of obstinately conservative England goes on apace. Fugitives are now worn by other people besides the daring mashers, who drive cabs. Linen trousers have ceased to be the wonder of jeering gamahood, and even fash have been used by men, a thing that a few years ago would have been looked down as the most grotesque exhibition of intolerable effeminacy. The startling Labourers is a sponsor for the even more appalling rumor that ladies have begun to bathe along with their brothers, husbands and even acquaintances at Ramsgate and Margate, the most dearly beloved resorts of the Cockney Bourgeois, and Labby silences shocked prudery, by the declaration that a proper bathing dress is a good deal more modest than the costumes worn by matrons of the most austere virtue at dinners and evening parties.

ROYALTY.

The Princess Louise keeps her husband at the respectful distance which has now become habitual. He is cruising in Scotch waters and she has gone to Austria to take the water cure for two months to drive off the neuralgic pains she has had since her historic sleighing accident. Her sister, the Crown Princess of Germany, who is said to possess real artistic ability, is painting a large oil picture of one of the Royal residences near Potsdam.

Prince Heinrich, the second son of the future German Empress, is proving his inheritance of his mother's talents and his love for his profession by painting a man-of-war in a gale.

The impecunious Duke and Duchess of Teck are now at Gastein, and have been permitted to have the society of their two sons, who are being educated at the expense of the mother-in-law, the Duchess of Cambridge.

The two Peers who have just died suddenly were among the most eccentric of their order. Lord Lauderdale, disappearing for years, was finally discovered acting as a Baggage Porter on a railway line. The Duke of Wellington was chiefly remarkable for his fierce quarrels with his illustrious father. Once the old Duke was consoled by a friend because of a caricature of him in a comic paper. His reply in the presence of his hapless son was that "the only caricature that annoyed him was 'that,' pointing to his hair.

The point of the remark was that the son bore an extraordinary but grotesque likeness to his father. He had the hooked nose and the high cheek bones, but all this was rendered frightful by a small, weak chin and a thin and irresolute jaw.

STRIKING MINERS.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 19.—The miners' camp at Wood's Run was thrown into great excitement when it was announced that Neel's miners had decided to continue work. The indignation of the crowd was raised to a fearful height when it was learned that Constable McClure had been in the mine. Speeches were made by Secretary Davis and President Costello denouncing the action of some of the operators. It was feared at one time that the miners could not control the men. A secret meeting of the leaders was held and all ordered to be on the ground at 2 a.m. Hundreds remained in camp all night. Orders were given at an early hour and the various squads started forth to interview the men of Neel's pit as they came to work. Earnest arguments, and some reports say, that force was used to have them return home, which many of them did. The report at noon is that Neel has sent for the Sheriff and a posse of police. A bad feeling has been aroused, and at present it appears that if anything further occurs to irritate the feelings of the men that loss of life and property may follow. Both of Neel's mines are now idle.

Young Republicans.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 19.—Much interest is expressed in Republican circles as to the possible outcome of the circulars sent out by the Young Republican Club of Kings County, requesting the views of members of that organization upon the propriety of holding a meeting to consider the course pursued with regard to Presidency.

In the absence of President Nichols from city for the past few days, delayed the opening of many of the replies to the circular received, and it is not likely any result will be made public until the latter of the present week.

A Big Drive of Healthy Cattle.

FORT KEOGH, M. T., Aug. 19.—Scott, Long & Co. a day or two ago crossed the Yellowstone River at Miles City with 6,500 cattle, bound for their new range on Big Dry Creek. Another detachment numbering 5,000 head, coming from the Niobrara, in Nebraska, and belonging to the Bunk Cattle Company, of Montana, crossed the Yellowstone at the same place, going north to the Red Water. All of these cattle were in a fine, healthy condition, with no sign of the dreaded fever nor disease of any kind. The new ranges north of the Yellowstone are rapidly filling up.

Panama Fever.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Three patients from the schooner Taylor, bound from Portobello for Baltimore, recently placed in the hospital at Cape Henry quarantine, are suffering from Chagres or Panama fever, nor yellow fever as first reported. One of the crew died on the voyage with symptoms of yellow fever.

He Hides in Style.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 19.—Archbishop Ryan has departed from St. Louis for Philadelphia. A large number of clergymen accompanied him to the train. He occupied a special car of the President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, which was sent on here for his use.

Coming Over to See Us.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Lords George and Claude Hamilton sail on steamer Britania next Thursday to visit America.

POLITICAL POOLING POTS

The Wind-Wafted Straws Tell How It's Going.

Matters and Things Are About Equal
Among the Contestants for the Presidential Pie—The Pool
Pots Are Boiling.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Times prints

dispatches from twenty-three cities giving the betting at the pool rooms and elsewhere on the Presidential election, showing the chances to be about equally divided.

BOSTON.

In Boston Blaine is decidedly the favorite, in betting circles and odds are offered on him with confidence. A Bytler man authorizes the Herald to put up any part of $10,000 on Blaine, and another gentleman stands ready to stake at $100 to $70 almost any amount on Blaine.

BUFFALO.

In Buffalo betting is nearly even, but favors Blaine.

PHILADELPHIA.

In Philadelphia Cleveland's backers are supposed to demand odds, and Blaine's backers are not disposed to give odds. J. W. Chantier, a man of fortune, has a bet of $1,000 against $900 that Blaine will be elected.

PITTSBURG.

In Pittsburgh bets have been booked at pool rooms $500 even that Blaine will be elected, $2,000 even that Cleveland will be elected; $500 even that Cleveland will have 25,000 majority in New York; $1,000 to $800 that Indiana goes Democratic.

BALTIMORE.

In Baltimore bets have been frequent but not many of large amounts. There are no odds offered on either side.

RICHMOND.

In Richmond, Virginia, the bets have, with few exceptions, been confined to small amounts. Two offers of $1,000 on Cleveland, made a week ago, have not found takers. A merchant has bet $100 that Cleveland will carry New York by 50,000.

CINCINNATI.

In Cincinnati the betting thus far is all on the result in this State in October, and in Indiana.

CLEVELAND.

In Cleveland there has been less betting than usual. A score of bets, in small sums, even, on the general result, and on New York State have been made. The feeling in sporting circles is that it is too early to go in.

TELEGRAPH TOURNAMENT.

Representatives of Telegraph Companies Contest for a Prize.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—A fast sending tournament of telegraphers took place in the dining room of the Western Union building. The test was the transmission of 500 words of selected printed matter, and the points to be considered being rapidity, correctness and perfection in forming the Morse characters. There were ten contestants, representing every telegraph company in the city and the United Press. The prize winners were classed as follows:

First, W. L. Waugh, Commercial Telegram Company, rapidity and perfect manipulation; gold medal. Time 11:27.

Second, W. M. Gibson, Bankers' and Merchants' Telegraph Company; good but not perfect sending; silver medal. Time 11:03.

Third, Frank J. Kihn, United Press, fair formation of characters, but great speed; silver plate key. Time 10:32.

Several of the contestants transmitted the matter in less time than either of the winners of the prize, but were disqualified by imperfect transmission. In one instance the five thousand words was gone over in ten minutes and ten seconds, but the sending not being readable, and it failed to secure a prize.

HE LIVED HIGH

But the Money Would Not Hold Out Long Enough.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 19.—The Committee appointed by the County Commissioners to investigate the books of County Treasurer Goben, have just completed their work, and find that his shortage aggregates $38,000.

The investigation shows a very loose style of business on the part of the Treasurer, and no system at all. He has had as his deputy, Charles Johnson, as honest a young man as can be found in the county.

Goben accused Johnson of dishonesty and demanded the keys of the office. They were at once handed over, and Johnson demanded that the charges of dishonesty be investigated. Goben and Johnson met in the Auditor's office, and on being publicly charged by Goben with being dishonest, Johnson attacked him and beat him considerably. The trouble is attributed to Goben's generosity, and to his liberal responses to every appeal for aid. A friend could be accommodated at any sum from $1 to $5 on application. He spent money lavishly, kept a fast horse and negro driver, lived in a fine residence, and kept no account of the money he used.

After the Dead Bigamists.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 19.—Roberts, the Mormon Elder, who came here to see the Governor in relation to securing aid in recovering the bodies of the Elders who were killed in Lewis County, has gone to Hickman County, near the scene of the tragedy, to interview the Governor, who is there. The Governor will look into the matter and do all he can to assist Elder Roberts and bring the guilty men to account. It is believed there will be no trouble in removing the bodies from Lewis County to Utah.

Undoubtedly Skipped.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 19.—There are no further developments in the case of the disappearance of Alfred Sheldon. Mrs. Sheldon, before leaving for England, disposed of her personal effects, their real estate being held by the Blue Springs Milling Company, as has been previously stated. The milling company prior to his disappearance, charged Sheldon with a shortage in his account amounting to $22,000. Pending a settlement he disappeared and soon after the theory of abduction was advanced, but this has now been generally abandoned.

The Sale of Maria S.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The Tribune's Saratoga special says:

"It is probable that Mr. Vanderbilt will soon sell Maria S. He has owned her for six years. He paid $21,000 for her. The reasons that may induce Mr. Vanderbilt to part with the mare are the annoyances which her possession, coupled with her recent exploit at Cleveland, have caused him. He has been bothered with requests and suggestions as to matches with other horses or against time at different places.

Mr. Vanderbilt recently received an offer of $100,000 for the mare, and while he has given no decisive answer to this or other offers lately made, he has concluded to accept one of them. He is anxious that the mare should not get into the hands of professional turfmen, and to avoid that will probably sell her for a less sum than they could easily afford to pay. He has not yet made the sale, but it is understood that he would like David Bonner to own her."

A Glad Welcome.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Among passengers on the Austral, which arrived from Liverpool, were members of the Philadelphia Cricket Club. They were met by many residents of the Quaker City who came to welcome them.

In an interview Secretary Robbins, of the club, said:

"We do not bowl or field as well as the English but we are superior batters. English wickets are easier than ours and we had a chance to do some splendid batting. We had four batters that were equal to any England, and better from a cricket point of view."

Base Ball Troubles.

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 19.—The men who deserted from the Cleveland Base Ball Club to go to Cincinnati, have not got through with the matter yet. The Cleveland managers propose to go into the Courts, although just what will be done cannot be decided until a meeting of the association. Legal advice has been received that they have a case, and leading base ball men, among whom is President Spalding, of Chicago, advise that course. The line indicated is to sue the Cincinnati Unions for damages, and to enjoin the men from playing in any clubs in Ohio.

Want to Build.

BAR HARBOR, Me., Aug. 19.—The Blaine family is looking about for a lot on which to build a summer cottage. Senator Plumb, of Kansas, dined with Mr. Blaine, Col. Grosvenor, of Ohio, and Representative Boutelle called in the evening. Geo. B. Newell, of New York, gave a dinner to Margaret Blaine and others at Malvern, and Mrs. R. J. McCormick, daughter of Editor Medill, of the Chicago Tribune, gave a dinner to Walker Blaine.

The Prince and Count.

VIENNA, Aug. 19.—Montagu Reue referring to the meeting between Count Kalnoky, Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs, and Prince Bismarck, dwells upon the universally peaceful aspect of affairs. The Austria-German Alliance, it says, removes all chances of a rupture of peace. Russia is equally anxious with Austria to adhere to Prince Bismarck's policy. A separation of Italy from the three Empires is merely owing to technical financial questions, and does not imply lasting estrangement.

Cotton Mill Burned.

NORWICH, Conn., Aug. 19.—Fire started in the wash house of the Norwich Bleaching and Calendering Company's works, one of the largest cotton mills in the State, and a large stock of manufactured goods, ready for delivery, was consumed, and some very expensive machinery and several of the adjoining buildings were damaged by water. Loss, $25,000.

The Fusion Fuss.

DETROIT, Aug. 19.—The Democrat Greenback State Central Committee meet here to talk over the fusion proposition. The Democrats like the fusion business all through, including the divisions of the electoral ticket, but Greenbackers, while willing to fuse on the State ticket, insist on taking their electoral ticket medicine straight for Butler. Without fusion neither Democrats nor Greenbackers have any show for success in Michigan.

Kelly Won't Talk.

SARATOGA, Aug. 19.—John Kelly has returned here and had a long conference with ex-Senator Grady. Kelly still refuses to talk on the political situation.

Gone Beyond.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 19.—The Journal's Broadhead special says:

"Saturday night Hall Ten Eyck stabbed his wife and then committed suicide by hanging. The woman is still living."

CONDENSED NEWS.

QUINCY, Ill., base-ball club is no more.

ROVING CHIEFS are burning the plains & Powder River valley.

A SCARLET woman caused John Connelly to shoot Pat Conway, in Boston.

The last Greek church in this country closed in New York yesterday. Petered out.

ST. LOUIS is shocked over the discovery that a lottery is being run in that city.

A DAUGHTER of Longfellow is said to be the fiancée of a son of Ole Bull.

FRED W. LAWORT, San Francisco, killed D. Haasloop and himself about money.

HOMAN, of the Neptune relief expedition, wears that Norman was bribed to give certain testimony regarding the Proteus. Some very ugly human nature crops out in Arctic expeditions.

ELIZABETH BARKER, a handsome mulatto living near White Plains, N. Y., was shot and killed by her negro lover, John Brown. Brown then blew out his own brains. Jealous of a handsomer man.

The little six-year old daughter of Hon. Lyman Trumbull, died at Kingston, N. Y., from concussion of the brain, caused in a peculiar way. She ran against an earthen teapot in the hands of a servant, breaking it, and falling badly and fracturing her skull.

TOM GRIFFIN, a bad man of Cherokee Nation, saddled his horse, packed his grip, went over to Eufaula, Ark., to settle accounts with some old enemies before leaving the country for divers murders. One enemy allied him full of rifle balls, and claims the reward of $1,000 for his corpse.
